

Project Contracting

Flexible on-demand project and procurement contract resources to meet your specific needs on time and within budget

Our solutions-focused contractors can meet your needs when you require resources but have a limited headcount, limited resources, or require specialist capability to supplement your workforce.

ArcBlue contractors have a diverse range of industry backgrounds including government, infrastructure and defence.

We support the delivery of major projects through our team of experienced professionals who go beyond ensuring governance to see their role as enabling effective project delivery.

Why ArcBlue for Project Contracting?

- We offer a cost-effective solution
- Our contractor base is diverse and includes procurement, commercial, project management and defence contractors with security clearances
- An Asia Pacific-wide contractor pool, many with the flexibility to fly into locations
- The established ArcBlue network of professionals reduces recruitment risk as contractors are known to us
- ArcBlue contractors adopt our cultural style – they are professional yet down-to-earth with the ability to adapt to the cultural fit of your organisation
- We ensure our contractors live & breathe the ArcBlue core values
- We recruit in advance to build a diverse contractor pool so we have available talent to match your needs

ArcBlue Project Contractors have specialist, multi-disciplinary expertise to suit your unique requirements.

Who we work with

ArcBlue Contractors come with the support of the wider ArcBlue team

At ArcBlue, we see our contractors as part of the ArcBlue team and offer access to support from the wider network, our tools and methodologies and our inclusive team culture.

Our clients have a Client Manager who supports both our clients, and our contractors, making sure the delivery of their project is as successful as possible.

Our Recruitment Process

We will always look to our extensive network of professionals first when building our contractor pool, before conducting open recruitment processes.

ArcBlue has a streamlined in-house recruitment process, led by our specialist Recruitment Manager, designed to find the best fit contractor with the highest flexibility for you.

We use ArcBlue Competency Assessments to measure the functional capability of our contractors.

We ensure potential candidates align to our cultural values and that they embrace the ArcBlue cultural style of being professional yet down to earth. This ensures a cultural fit with your business.

Flexible Resources across the Asia Pacific region

ArcBlue leverages our network within the local, regional and global contracting & procurement community to recruit contractors to the team. With offices across Australia, in New Zealand, Singapore & Hong Kong, we have access to local contractors who will be managed by their local offices. Our network of contractors extends beyond our office locations, to provide extensive coverage for the Asia Pacific region.
